

Salem Hospital construction update

May 26, 2006

Road status

Did you see it? Oak Street SE is now open, between Winter and 12th Streets SE!

Drilling activity

During the next several weeks, crews will be drilling in front of the Center for Outpatient Medicine and the hospital. This work will occur on weekends. The drilling is necessary to prepare for the new sky bridges that will connect these two buildings to the new patient tower.

The drilling in front of the hospital will occur on about June 24. Access to the doors at the main entrance will be impacted. People wishing to enter the hospital are encouraged to use the door south of the water fountain, or the automatic door north of the main entrance. Both of these doors are very close to the main-entrance door.

Parking garage demolition

Demolition has begun! It will take several months. The data center and the skybridges have been protected to ensure they are not disturbed during demolition. And the building is being watered down to limit flying dust.
